Spiritual Care

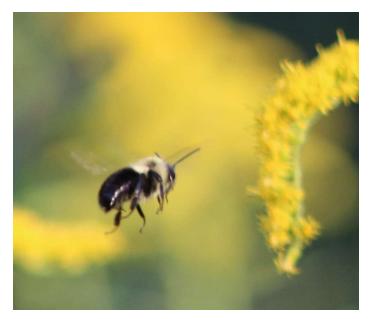

The end-winter new moon smiles down; Faithfully following appointed rounds; A vision of harmony in the heavens above; Growing to fullness welcomes in spring.

Spring forward, fall back – the sun does not know; Day cycles into night in their set pattern; Marking time is in human perception; Lose an hour, gain an hour – the world goes on; The challenge is how to use the time well.

Create a path to mutual support and sustenance; Continue with intrepid perseverance; The goal of renewal ever in hope-filled sight; Willing to accept the opportunities to grow.

Change Happens

Seasons cycle as each year renews; Change offers abundant opportunities for growth; Not to stagnate but to seek to improve; Be the change that brings blessings.

Chaplain Sam Seicol

samuel_seicol@meei.harvard.edu