Awakening slowly to the promise of Spring;
Leading the way for fellow buds to follow;
Opening from Winter’s sheltered slumber;
Taking each day to gently grow;
Soon to share in a community of joyful splendor.

Gently reach out to the world with calm patience;
Open to the wonders nature graciously provides;
With tender joy welcome small gifts of beauty;
Become a part of the loving tapestry called life.

Firmly rooted in the earth’s nurturing spirit;
Varying ways to grow and express their beauty;
Each personal path leads to a joyous splendor;
A community that celebrates and welcomes all.

To be different, yet welcomed and celebrated;
To envision a world that embraces all with love.